PUBLIC TRANSPORTATION

San Francisco has two main systems to transport you throughout the city and surrounding areas, The MUNI and BART.

MUNI: The MUNI is comprised of Cable Cars, Buses & Subways. The fare for MUNI: $1.50 for adults and .50 cents for seniors and children up 17 years. For more information visit www.sfmuni.com.

BART: BART is a system designed to take you to certain areas and neighborhoods in San Francisco including San Francisco International and Oakland International Airports. The fares vary. The main BART station is located at Market Street & Powell Street (approximate a three block walk from Clift) which is also the main turnaround for The Cable Cars. A one way Cable Car fare is $8.10. We advise using the Cable Cars primarily for transportation around to and from Fisherman's Wharf. For more information visit www.bart.gov.
